DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to papers filed on January 12, 2006.

Claims 5 and 8-13 have been amended.

Claim 7 is withdrawn.

Claims 5-6, 8-15 and 34 are pending.

Claims 5-6, 8-15 and 34 are rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 5-6, 8-15 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claim 5 states storing "learned content", the specification does not support the requirement of enabling someone to know how the device actual learned this content that is being stored. How is learned? Who teaches it? What is learned? Claim 5 further recites "determining an upgraded control module". However, the determination is never actually made. The dependent claims recite several databases that the "determining" comprises but never teaches how these databases are involved in the determining process.

3. Furthermore, claim 15 recites the limitation of “providing and upgraded module”. One is not able to “provide” something that hasn’t been determined. There are no steps or descriptions in the disclosure to enable one to know how to determine which module is the appropriate “upgraded” module.
4. Claim 12 recites a growth database, however the disclosure fails to teach the use of this type of database. The database is to be used to classify a control module according to a level of development. How is the level of development determined? Is level of development different from maturity level? How are the database and “level of development” used to provide a control module according to a level of maturity?
5. Prior art is not being applied to the above claims because the specification of originally application filed on May 5, 2001 does not enable the scope of the claims to be determined therefore are unsearchable.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant’s arguments filed January 12, 2006, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants arguments and amendments to claims fail to overcome the rejections of enablement under 35 USC 112 1st paragraph. Examiner notes applicant has failed to provide evidence in the arguments that the disclosure is enabling nor does the applicant argue against the rejections. Examiner maintains the rejection as restated above.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
